

FORMER SHERIFF JOHN MAERAS

15 years for former sheriff

A 15 year prison sentence for former Madison County sheriff John Maeras was assessed by U.S. District Judge J. Waldo Ackerman in federal court in Alton about 9 a.m. today.

Maeras' attorney, Bruce Cook, filed a notice of appeal with the court and Maeras' bond was continued. The conviction will be appealed to the Seventh U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Maeras was convicted Feb. 25, 1979, with his former chief of field operations, John Cooper of Granite City, of 23 counts of a federal racketeering indictment alleging kickbacks from towing companies, misuse of the mails and phones for illegal fund-raising and violations of the RICO (Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization) statute.

Also convicted that date was fundraiser Leland Stoller of Nashville, Tenn., who conducted dances and fund-raising activities for the former Madison County Deputy Sheriff's Association.

Cooper has been sentenced to serve 15 years in federal prison and Stoller was sentenced to three years. They also are appealing their convictions to U.S. Appeals Court.

There was no testimony during this morning's hearing on the status of Maeras' health. Doctors testified last year that the former sheriff is dying of terminal brain and lung cancer.

Judge Ackerman told those gathered this morning in the Alton federal building that he could not allow himself the luxury of deciding Maeras' sentence with his heart rather than his head.

Maeras, who has had several hospitalizations, sat quietly with his wife when the sentence was read.

Maeras, dressed in a navy blue sweater and slacks, appeared much thinner than he did during his trial a year ago, one witness commented.

Last spring, his sentencing was suspended indefinitely after a doctor testified that he had only four to six months to live. Before today's sentencing, Bruce Cook of Belleville, Maeras' attorney, said the court was well aware of the former sheriff's condition, which Cook described as unchanged.

He asked for probation, rather than a sentence.

Cook, who called the judge "a prisoner of the system," said he questioned the tactics of federal prosecutors in the case. He said the logic used was that "the prosecutors wouldn't do anything wrong, so what they did was right." But, Cook contended, some of the things they had done were not right. "I feel an innocent man was convicted; I really do," Cook said.

Cook said he questioned the fundamental fairness of a system where a Democratic politician (Maeras) has to defend himself from a Republican prosecutor (U.S. Attorney Gerald Fines).

He said whatever sentence the judge gave Maeras would not hurt him more CENSUS '80 SIGNS are being placed at various locations throughout Granite City to remind residents to cooperate with the ten-year census on April 1. Rufus Valencia, a street department employee, fastens one of 20 such signs to a metal parking sign standard in the 2300 block of Madison Avenue Monday afternoon. The compiled results of the census affect state and federal funding and programs. The signs were made by the street department on reusable sign blanks which will be painted over after the census is completed.

Bar recommends all judge candidates but Mays

JUDGE MATOESIAN

Who would make the best judges among those on the March 18 primary ballot?

The Illinois State Bar Association through its traditional judicial advisory poll yesterday attempted to provide guidance for voters.

Both Charles W. Chapman and A. Andreas Matoesian, rivals for a Third Circuit judicial post in the Democratic primary, were recommended by the Bar Association.

For the Fifth Appellate District, the bar group made a "not recommended" finding regarding Robert B. Mays, former East St. Louis city clerk.

It recommends the three others seeking the Eberspacher seat, Horace L. Calvo of Granite City, Ronald A. Niemann and Paul P. Waller Jr. All are Democrats, as is Moses W. Harrison, who was recommended for the appellate post formerly held by George Moran of Granite City, who retired.

Chapman, who was accorded a summary score of 85.17 out of a possible 100, and Matoesian, 79.02, are running for the circuit judge post formerly held by William Beatty of Granite City, now a federal judge.

Chapman holds the circuit post by appointment. Matoesian, an associate judge, is a former circuit judge.

Harrison received 84.63, Waller 81.96, Niemann 78.99, Calvo 76.82 and Mays, 46.12. Those receiving less than 70 are not recommended.

In the poll of lawyers, 15 questions are answered on four general areas of judicial performance: integrity, temperament, legal ability and court management.

Matoesian in his campaign is citing his 14 years of service as a judge. He is 42 and was born and raised in Granite City, where he resides with his wife and two children.

Former Commonwealth Plant worker, he became a barber while working his way through college. He served as an attorney in the private practice of law for a short time before becoming a trial judge.

Chapman was chosen by the Illinois

Supreme Court for the circuit position until an election is held. He is married and has three children.

Portell, Petrillo mentioned for mayor race

Rumors that Granite City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell might run for mayor in 1981 and that Madison County Board Member Daniel Partney might run for Granite City Township supervisor were discounted this week by the two.

"It's strictly rumor, that's all it is," Portell told the Press-Record.

He added, "I have been asked by several people if I would run. I have never said I would, and that's my answer."

Asked if he planned to oppose Nelson Hagnauer, the incumbent township supervisor, Partney said, "In no way, shape or form can I say that right now. I have no interest in running for township supervisor."

"I can't say honestly right now,

Madison, he was a part-time research chemist and then a law clerk for U.S. Judge Omer Poos before beginning an active law practice in 1968.

however, I won't run for mayor," Partney added.

Granite City Treasurer Nick Petrillo, asked if he was considering running for mayor, responded only with a hand signal indicating he might or he might not run.

Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler also has been the subject of speculation as a possible 1981 mayor candidate. An article referring to a potential Bowler candidacy appeared in the Feb. 7 Press-Record.

Incumbent Mayor Paul Schuler went on record in a letter to precinct committeemen as a candidate for reelection, but rumors persist that he has since decided not to run. He had made no public comments on the rumors or on his possible candidacy.

Fleet towboat burns, will be restored

"Senator Sam," the towboat that suffered $300,000 damage in a fire here at 4 p.m. Monday, will be rebuilt and should be in operation during the early spring.

The blaze began in the galley and its origin was electrical, authorities determined. Flames gutted both the galley and the crew's quarters.

Venice, Madison and Granite City firemen were praised by Tri-City Regional Port officials for effective work.

The firefighters required two hours to quell the flames and then remained during the evening hours to make sure there was no recurrence of the fire. No injuries were reported.

Discovered on Aug. 7, 1978, the vessel is used for fleetings operations at the Port.

The name of the boat was announced at the dedication ceremonies, surprising State Senator Sam M.

Vadalabene, Edwardsville Democrat, who was present. He was honored for legislative efforts.

He added, "I have been asked by several people if I would run. I have never said I would, and that's my answer."

Asked if he planned to oppose Nelson Hagnauer, the incumbent township supervisor, Partney said, "In no way, shape or form can I say that right now. I have no interest in running for township supervisor."

One hundred persons attended the ceremonies marking acquisition of the Senator Sam.

Owner of the big towboat is Art's Fleet Service, headed by Art Heinricher. Estimated replacement value of the vessel is $1,500,000.

First area-wide sale here Friday, Saturday

Sales by local retailers are not a rarity, but the sales event occurring here tomorrow and Saturday will be unique.

It will mark the first time that a price-slashing promotion has involved stores throughout the Quad-City area simultaneously. All shopping districts and centers are participating.

The occasion is observance of Leap Year Day. While this particular event happens only once in four years, similar area-wide sales are planned here annually.

Details of the goods and services being offered Friday and Saturday are outlined inside today's Press-Record.

'Circulation' challenged

Circulation claims of some publications being distributed in Illinois are highly suspect, a Madison-St. Clair counties area newspaper executive has alleged.

"We received by mistake an invoice from a company which listed various newspapers and the charges for printing them," he said.

"If this was in fact a printing bill for the period specified, there were precise numbers of papers printed for various cities—figures that are far lower than the publicly-claimed circulation totals."

"If I were an advertiser, I would demand an answer to these apparent discrepancies in trying to determine whether they really print anything within many thousands of copies of what they say they do," he concluded.

Specific research carried out in the late 1970s in Illinois shows an even lower portion, 29.6 percent of claimed circulation, actually receiving copies of certain national-circulation newspapers, despite assertions of 100 percent penetration.

Of the 29.6 percent, less than half reported regular or frequent use. Based on the research finding that usage in some cases is less than 15 percent, claims of "cost per thousand" not only are inaccurate, but extremely so, authorities in the newspaper field contend.

Overpass contract

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

Construction of a 19th Street overpass should begin about April 1 and a pre-construct conference is scheduled for 9 a.m. Friday, March 7, in French Village, the Press-Record has learned.

Granite City officials approved local funding for the project Tuesday night. The City Council voted in favor of the city selling $900,000 in general obligation bonds which will be repaid from motor fuel tax funds.

Final approval of the bond sale by the council is expected as soon as a buyer for the bonds is located and the necessary contracts are prepared, a process which normally takes several weeks.

The council also received notification by the Illinois Department of Transportation of the awarding of a $5,949,540 contract to E. Millstone Construction Co. of St. Louis to build the overpass.

The contract is $1,186 higher than the previously announced bid figure, due to errors found by IDOT when it recalculated the Millstone bid. City Engineer Monroe Brewer explained, "These bids are on unit cost per item and per hour. There are about 65 different items to be done and when IDOT recalculated the unit costs for each and added them up, they came up with the corrected amount."

"Their awarding the contract to Millstone means his per unit cost was lower than the other bidder's per unit cost and the recalculation of both bids substantiated that," Brewer added.

Word that the contract had been awarded formally certified that the recalculation of the bids showed Millstone is the low bidder. The firm has been notified that it can sign the construction contract as soon as it posts the necessary bonds and insurance.

Alderman Sam Whitmer expressed concern that the city's motor fuel tax fund may be stretched in future years by adding the overpass bonds to the fund's liabilities, while the city's income from fuel taxes is decreasing. He noted the city already is paying $10,000 a month from the motor fuel tax fund to repay the county for widening and extending Maryville Road.

Mayor Paul Schuler said the city receives about $50,000 a year from motor fuel taxes and he does not expect that amount to change significantly in the next few years, when the Maryville Road account is paid fully.

The overpass would require about $60,000 to $70,000 per year, since the bonds will be repaid over a period of 20 years.

Alderman Lloyd Bailey of the Sixth Ward said he thought the amount the city received from motor fuel taxes would increase as the cost of gasoline increases, but Whitmer said the city receives a set amount for each gallon of gasoline sold, not a percentage of the cost. "As the cost of gasoline goes up, people use less and we get less money," Whitmer explained.

Mayor Schuler said that even during the few years remaining on the Maryville Road payments, the city can afford the overpass bonds and still have well in excess of $300,000 a year in the motor fuel tax fund for road maintenance.

One of the programs funded by fuel taxes is an ongoing program to overlay streets with asphalt. Ed Schulte, the city's traffic engineer, urged all aldermen to decide which streets all their wards need to be resurfaced most and let his department know, so bid specifications for the work can be prepared.

He said he hopes to seek bids in April or May for the work, but he needs time to prepare the specifications for bidding.

The boat is used to move barges as needed at the local harbor and at the dock's cargo transfer areas.

Gambling arrests

Two co-owners of Baker's Drive-In, 1371 Edwardsville Road, were charged last night with keeping a gambling establishment after undercover surveillance by Granite City detectives led to allegations the business was paying customers for wins on two pinball machines.

A 16-year-old girl employee also was arrested and faces possible juvenile charges.

Charged with keeping a gambling establishment are Lois Baker, 55, of 2229 Monroe St., and Gerald W. Wallace, 54, of 1619 Delmar Ave.

Wallace, who was working when police made the arrests, also was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor for allegedly allowing the 16-year-old girl to pay the winning customers.

The undercover officer said he watched two customers play the pinball machines from about 8:45 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. yesterday and alleged the girl paid one man a $10 bill and some $1 bills. She then filled out a receipt and put it in the cash register, it is alleged.

The second man earned about 300 free games on a machine and the girl allegedly gave him $30 before he left and she put another receipt in the cash register. His car was stopped as it left the parking lot and he allegedly admitted he won the $30 gambling on the pinball machine.

Police then returned, made the arrests and seized the receipts from the cash register.

Pontoon studies insurance

The Pontoon Beach Village Board met Tuesday night with a representative of an insurance firm to discuss a proposed hospitalization and health insurance policy for village employees with the current policy. No decisions were made at the meeting. Board members were reminded that a meeting of the board with all interested residents will be held Saturday morning, March 8, to discuss proposed annexations to the village.

Municipal planner Mike Jett will be on hand to discuss advantages and disadvantages of annexing property to add to the village's income base.

Sinter plant agreement questioned

Public testimony by seven local residents on a proposed agreement between Granite City Steel and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency on sintering plant operations highlighted a public hearing held in the Granite City Township Building yesterday.

A last-minute attempt was made by Alderman Charles Douglas, acting as attorney for a local resident, to intervene and seek a continuance of the hearing.

Douglas' motions were opposed by Randall Robertson, attorney for the steel company, who said the motions were untimely. Pat Chesley, an assistant attorney general who represented the state, said he opposed continuation of the hearing, but did not object to Douglas' request to intervene in the case on behalf of Florence Farmer, a local resident.

Robert Matosian, who was appointed hearing officer by the Illinois Pollution Control Board for the case, denied both of Douglas' motions, but did allow him to testify as a resident.

Douglas questioned whether the proposed baghouse for the sintering plant would be adequate in reducing emissions and suggested more time be spent seeking the best available air pollution control equipment for the sinter plant.

Six other individuals testified on alleged problems from sinter plant emissions. One complained of persistent eye problems which seemed to correspond with periods of white ash fallout. Others blamed the sinter plant for damage to paint on cars, particularly in the fall of 1977.

Several persons questioned whether implementation of the proposed agreement would provide permanent relief, since they alleged there have been several recent incidents of pollution from the sinter plant.

The proposed agreement calls for a baghouse and other improvements to capture dust and emissions from the sinter plant and Granite City Steel has agreed to pay a $10,000 fine to the IEPA, although it denies responsibility for damages caused by the white ash fallout of 1977 or subsequent episodes.

Joseph Purcell, 46, dies

Joseph Purcell, 46, Caseyville, a former Granite City resident, died at 4:30 a.m. today at his home of an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Purcell was born in Granite City and resided in the Quad-City area until moving to Caseyville five years ago. He was self-employed as a carpet layer. He was a Navy veteran and the implementation time for completing the pollution controls has been advanced from August of 1981 to April of next year, under the revised agreement.

Robertson said the company is showing good faith in attempting to live up to the agreement and already has applied to the IEPA for a permit to install the improvements at the sinter plant.

An initial agreement was rejected by the IEPA because of a provision that any damages the steel company had to pay to individuals from the white ash fallout would be deducted from the $10,000 fine to the IEPA, and because of the longer implementation period.

Survivors are a son, Steven Six, and a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Purcell, both of Granite City; a sister, Mrs. Betty Davis of Villa Ridge, Mo., and several nieces and nephews. Arrangements are pending at the Herr Funeral Home in Caseyville.

than he has already been hurt. "He has fought his fight. His life has run its course. He's got much to be proud of," Cook said.

Cook described Maeras as a man with only moderate means who tried to serve Madison County. He used the terms "dignified" and "macho" to describe Maeras, who he described as "what a man should be."

Before the sentencing, Fines asked that the judge consider a sentence for Maeras no less severe than that given Cooper, a former captain convicted with Maeras a year ago. Cooper earlier was sentenced to 15 years.

Several hearings to determine the status of Maeras' health were postponed earlier. Cook told a reporter that on advice from Maeras' doctor, to the effect that the former sheriff might live as long as six more months, the judge decided to proceed with sentencing. After this morning's hearing, Fines said he felt justice has been done.

'Prayer Day' speaker risked life for freedom

For Raquel Sarasa, staff pharmacist at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, freedom is a right that had to be earned. She earned it 17 years ago when she fled from Communist Cuba to the United States in a fishing boat.

Mrs. Sarasa will be the featured speaker at the Church Women United's World Day of Prayer on Friday, March 7.

Each year, the worldwide day of prayer has one topic. This year, that topic is freedom.

The prayers are voiced around the world by people of more than 150 countries.

Mrs. Sarasa has been a member of the pharmacy staff since she arrived in the U.S. 17 years ago. Her story of that dangerous escape will not be the subject of her speech to the Church Women United group, but the freedom she found in this country will be.

"For me, it was very important not to be Communist," she said. "If you really want something you have to pay the price. My price for freedom was risking my life."

To hear Mrs. Sarasa's talk on freedom and to participate in the World Day of Prayer, Quad-Cityans will register March 7 at 9:15 a.m. at the Bethel AME Church, 1635 Market St., Venice. The program will continue until 11:30 a.m.

The Kevin B. Sullivan, diocesan director of the missions, 800 S. 5th St., Springfield 62703, is in charge of contributions.

Bereavement workshop

Hospice of Madison County is sponsoring a two-part Bereavement Workshop on Sunday, March 2, and Sunday, March 9, from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Wiesman Room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The workshop purpose is to assist people in recognizing and understanding their own responses to loss and grief. They will utilize this in offering help to the bereaved individual or family, if interested in volunteering.

Objectives are:

1. To identify loss as a universal and inevitable part of the human experience.

2. To describe the signs and symptoms of the grief process.

3. To explain the different strategies for helping the bereaved.

The workshop will be headed by Dr. Doris Bell, Ph.D., professor of the School of Nursing at SIUE. For the first class, March 2, Dr. Bell will be assisted by Dr. Kenneth Netz, who holds a degree in philosophy and psychology and a doctorate of ministry from the Ashland Theological Seminary. He has worked extensively in clinical pastoral education with terminally ill cancer patients, suicide prevention, management of grief and coping strategies.

A film will be shown at each session. There will also be a coffee and soup break, or those attending may bring a sack lunch.

To register for the workshop, Quad-Cityans may call the Hospice office at 788-3399, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. SIUE has authorized nine contact credit hours for registered nurses who complete the workshop.

Service improvements at Granite Chrysler-Plymouth

Lee Iacocca, chairman of the board of Chrysler Corporation, is discussing a New Chrysler Corp. that he wants, among other things, to be the Service Company of the '80s.

Granite Chrysler-Plymouth as a part of the New Chrysler Corp., wants to be the Quad-City area's service dealership of the '80s. H. J. "Mat" Matson of Granite City the owner, comments.

To reach that goal, Granite Chrysler-Plymouth has made improvements in its service department which will result in faster, more efficient, and better service to customers, Matson said.

These include installing the latest diagnostic equipment, such as Chrysler's Electronic Engine Performance Analyzer, and incorporating a 100 percent quality control system for all service work.

"Customer satisfaction is maintained with a customer waiting lounge, with Boyd Milford in charge of a new appointment system for more orderly, quicker service," Matson said.

"And we are making available substitute vehicles, should a customer's car be detained beyond the expected repair time."

In addition, the dealership is participating in Chrysler's innovative 30-day or 1,000-mile money-back guarantee program currently in progress," Matson noted.

Located at 19th Street and Grand Avenue, the dealership has been serving area customers for 50 years.

FOGGY RIVER BOYS vocal and instrumental music group which will present a concert here March 14.

Night of music planned Mar. 14

On March 14, sponsored by the Junior High Youth Fellowship of St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road, the Foggy River Boys will present a night of family entertainment.

For several years they have owned their own 900-seat theater in Brandon, Mo., where they present their music show from May through October. Beginning in November, they tour the central states, giving concerts in cooperation with civic clubs, schools and other organizations as well as performing for state, regional and national conventions.

Following a music tradition established in the 1940s and continued in the 1950s by the original Jordanaires of Nashville's "Grand Ol' Opry," the Foggy River Boys have expanded the repertoire to embrace virtually every popular type of vocal and instrumental music.

They will be presented in concert at the Granite City High School North gymnasium, Rt. 203 and Maryville Road, on Friday, March 14, beginning at 8 p.m. The cost of admission is $4, and there will be no reserved seats.

Tickets may be purchased ahead of time by calling the church office, 877-6060, or they may be purchased at the door.

SEEKS OPERATORS

The Chouteau Town Board agreed Monday night to seek residents interested in becoming certified as mosquito spray operators for this summer. It was reported the operator used last summer will be unavailable. The township will pay training expenses, and anyone who becomes certified as a spray operator will be offered a part-time job in that capacity, the board agreed.

Sclerosis campaign

The annual house-to-house campaign for multiple sclerosis will take place on the weekend of March 29, 30 and 31. It was announced by St. Louis Multiple Sclerosis Chairman Rex Redfern.

Volunteers will march throughout their neighborhoods collecting funds to support research and services to MS patients.

Local campaign chairman is David Fox, a vice-president at the First Granite City National Bank.

Multiple sclerosis is the most prevalent neurological disease of young adults, usually between the ages of 20 to 40. While a cure is still being sought, scientists believe that, of all neurological diseases, MS shows the greatest progress for meaningful research.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society is the only national voluntary health agency in the U.S. solely devoted to supporting research to find the cause, prevention and cure of MS.

The St. Louis area chapter is a non-profit organization founded in 1955 to give aid and comfort to multiple sclerosis victims and their families. The chapter covers 79 counties in eastern Missouri and southern Illinois.

Varied patient services are available to MS patients, such as counseling, home care courses, equipment pool and clinic services. The clinic is for diagnosis and treatment of persons stricken with the disease.

Ultimatum of the chief

Big win against the Big Red

They finally did it. After three previous unsuccessful attempts, the Officer Friendly All-Stars finally defeated the Big Red Cardinal football players 44-37 in the eighth annual Officer Friendly basketball game Tuesday evening.

The All-Stars not only won the "prestigious" game, but led the Big Red at the end of each quarter.

Officer Friendly (Fred Hoffman) was given an ultimatum of "win or else" by Granite City Police Chief Ronald Veizer.

"Whew! I sure am glad we won," commented Hoffman shortly after the game.

Hoffman did do some pre-game drafting to "beef up" his team of policemen and fire department personnel. Several of his recruits made a definite contribution on the court. In fact, four of the "ringers" who were introduced as members of the "undercover vice squad" tallied 34 of the 44 total team points.

Leading the All-Stars in scoring with 12 points, was Gary Simpson, a 1969 Granite City High School graduate who was a first-team all-state selection. He averaged 25 points a game during his junior and senior years here.

Although the 1,800 plus crowd mostly cheered for the Big Red throughout the game, the All-Stars never let up nor let their morale fluster.

Rich Essington, a former Venice High School star and four-year starter, plus Larry Lilley, Dave Melzer and Mike DeRuntz, all outstanding players at GCIS, filled out the roster of "friends" recruited by Hoffman.

Throughout the evening, a lonely clown, played by George Anderson, an emergency medical technician with the Granite City Fire Department, entertained the crowd.

At one point during a fast break, a whistle was blown stopping the action. The players looked at the referees, waiting for the call as the referees looked at each other, neither knowing that the clown had, in fact, blown the mysterious whistle.

Later in the game, the clown climbed up a ladder and attached two rubber tie-down straps across the opening of the Big Red's basket so the ball wouldn't go through.

Mark Anderson quickly noticed the tie-downs criss-crossing the basket and lifted Mel Gray up to undo the clown's prank.

Ron Yankowski and the clown also hammed it up for the crowd near the end of the game.

As the final score indicates, though, the Big Red players were the ones who needed a few tricks up their sleeves.

From the left clockwise: the Big Red's Carl Allen (27) looks on as teammate Ron Yankowski (78) battles for a rebound against "ringer" Larry Lilley during the first half. Above — Dave Rosenberg shoots from the corner over Mel Gray (85). Greg Nighohossian, an EMT (emergency medical technician) with the fire department, is at the left. At right — former Granite City High School star Gary Simpson makes a layup over Gray (85). Below — Yankowski and Gray, perennial favorites of autograph seekers, chat with some of the crowd at the autograph lineup. Lower left — the lonely clown, George Anderson, finds a friend to enjoy the game with.

County may alter budget approach

By ALICE NOBLE
Madison County may go to a modified version of zero based budgeting next year under a proposal being considered by the County Board's finance committee this month.

The finance committee is looking over a budgeting system currently used by the city of Wood River, called targeted budgeting.

Although not a perfect form of zero based budgeting, the latter would require that departmental budgets start "from scratch" each year and justify all anticipated expenditures.

Under targeted budgeting, the current budget of each county department would be considered the "survival level," or the least amount of money needed to carry out necessary department business.

The finance committee would then adjust the budgets for the following year by examining the county's anticipated revenues, inflation rates, and needs.

This would allow the committee to set spending levels around which each department would build its budget for the following year.

Mary Kane, administrative assistant to the county board, told the finance committee that each department would be required to make three budgets.

One, the target budget, would use the spending level set by the finance committee.

Another, called the reduction budget, would use a figure somewhat lower than the spending level and would be used if the county did not bring in as much revenue as it expected.

The third budget would be an improvement budget, using a figure somewhat higher than the spending level set by the finance committee. The improvement budget would be used if the county were to bring in more revenue than expected.

She said targeted budgeting would allow the finance committee to just set spending levels and let the departments decide where to spend the money.

In the past, the committee has been burdened with making line item reductions in its attempts to balance the budget. The new system would force the departments to make these reductions.

Phil Ford, director of finance for Wood River, said city officials there are pleased with the system, even though there have been some implementation problems due to unexpected changes during the past year.

"Under normal static conditions, targeted budgeting would work well, but we've had to make quite a few unexpected changes this year," Ford said. "It's working, but not as well as it would if we didn't have the changes."

He said the city is using the system again this year in drawing up its budget for fiscal year 1980-81, and is looking forward to a problem-free year.

Finance Committee Chairman William Little, Alton, is enthusiastic about the possibilities of target budgeting. He is particularly interested in having a balanced budget and preventing a county deficit.

"I don't want to be a part of this county going into the red," Little said.

"It hasn't been in the red for some time now, but we're getting closer to it if we don't do something pretty soon. We're coming to what could be a critical point."

The committee has until August to start budget deliberations for next year.

Federal tax exhibit at Venice Library

The Venice Public Library located at 325 Broadway, Venice, is featuring an exhibit of the latest federal tax information for use by taxpayers in the Venice area.

Some of the most commonly used tax forms can be found in the exhibit—Form 1040, 1040A, Schedule A & B—as well as publications and other reference materials.

Also included in the exhibit are two popular tax guides, Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," and Publication 334, "Tax Guide for Small Business."

The Internal Revenue Service publishes over 80 different free publications on a wide variety of subjects to help taxpayers with their income tax returns. They may be obtained from any IRS office, or by using the order blank contained in the forms package which taxpayers received in the mail.

Tax forms at GC post office

If you are ready to file your 1979 Federal income tax report but don't have the proper forms, you may find them at the Granite City post office, Postmaster Jack D. Wilkins said this week.

"Whether it's Schedule C for profit or loss from a business or profession, Schedule D for capital gains or losses, Schedule E for supplemental income or any of the other forms, we have them in our lobby," Wilkins said.

The forms are available as a convenience to customers and to assist the Internal Revenue Service.

The postmaster suggested taxpayers mail their returns early this year. "The sooner reports are mailed, the sooner any refunds that are due will be received."

Swimnastics for women

A new session of women's "swimnastics" is scheduled to begin March 3 at the YMCA. The class meets on Monday and Wednesday mornings from 9 to 9:45.

Lee Suarez teaches the class, which includes 30 minutes of exercise in the pool followed by 15 minutes of open swimming. The class runs continuously through the year and costs $8 per four-week session for non-"Y" members. There is no charge for "Y" members.

For those interested, there is a women's instructional swim class immediately following the Suarez class. There is a small fee for non-members for the instruction.

Besides the pool exercise class, the "Y" also offers women's fitness classes on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 8, and each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from noon to 1 p.m.

Tina Taylor teaches the evening class, which is followed by volleyball or swimming. There is no charge for members and the cost is $8 for non-members.

Ellen Wilson teaches the noon fitness class. It is also free to members and costs $12 per four-week session for non-members.

Writing courses

The Office of Conferences and Institutes at SIUE will offer several non-credit courses during the spring months for people interested in writing, handwriting, and career change.

An eight-week course in writing will be offered for people who think they cannot write, beginning March 24 and extending through May 12. Sessions will meet on Mondays in Room 1308 of Peck Classroom Building, from 7 until 9 p.m. Registration is $37.

"Turn your wishes and dreams into stories and poems. Learn some of the techniques of fiction that will transmute your experiences into prose," Sylvia Kluth, instructor for the class, suggests.

A short course in writing feature articles aimed at the newspaper and magazine market will be offered from March 13 until April 17. Class will meet Thursdays in Room 1306 of Peck Classroom Building, from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m.

Instruction in research, organizing and composing articles, as well as market selection, will be explored during the six-week course. Registration is $29. Instructor will be Robert Duncan, professor of English language and literature.

A course in handwriting analysis will be offered from March 11 until April 3, meeting Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:30 until 7:30 p.m. in Room 3303 of Peck Classroom Building. Registration will be $18.

Helen Browne, visiting lecturer in English language and literature, will be the instructor.

Students will learn how to analyze handwriting samples and apply the techniques of graphoanalysis to evaluate the character and personality of the writer. The possibility of changing personal outlooks and attitudes through a change in handwriting will also be explored.

A five-week course in careers and career change will be offered March 11 to April 8, meeting Tuesdays from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. in Room 3409 of Peck Classroom Building. Registration will be $18. Van Horn, director of placement services at the University, will instruct the class. Registration is $25.

TALK ON REGION'S ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Robert Koepke, SIUE professor of earth science, geography and planning, and coordinator of area development, discussed jobs, taxes and economic development in this region Wednesday as part of the university's gerontology program.

The lecture for senior citizens examined the economic base and possible changes it could undergo. Also, the role the economic base plays in community life was discussed.

Hispanic job, education fair here Mar. 9

The Hispanic Employment Program coordinator's Council of Greater St. Louis, in conjunction with the Granite City Mexican Honorary Commission, will sponsor a Job Information and Educational Fair on Sunday, March 9, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. at 1801 Spruce St., Granite City.

This one-session fair is intended to supplement efforts to reach the Hispanic community with job opportunities and educational information. The fair is not intended to replace other efforts in the same direction.

Purposes of the fair are to:

1. Inform and educate the community on general job and educational opportunities available.
2. Determine what education and skills are available in the community.
3. Explain the Summer Jobs Program, Professional Administration and Career Exam, and current job and educational opportunities.
4. Assist in formation of resumes, job applications, and interview structures.

Dimensional management to be topic

The Gateway East Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa will hold a breakfast meeting Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville. Chairman will be Thomas Miosky of Granite City and the speaker will be E. Stanley Howlett, management training engineer at Granite City Steel.

Topic will be "Dimensional Management Training, A People Skills Program." Dimensional training is a system for teaching people to work more effectively with other people. It shows them how to get more productivity out of face-to-face interactions on which they spend time and effort.

Dimensional management seeks to show managers, in any job at any level, how to utilize people skills to motivate their subordinates, to get better cooperation from their fellow managers, and to work more effectively with their own boss.

Howlett, born in Madison, is presently residing in Edwardsville. He is active in such organizations as the board of governors of the Granite City Coordinated Youth, a delegate of the World Baptist Alliance in Tokyo, Japan, board of the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council, area admissions counselor for Upper Iowa University (Extension Division), and a board member of State Community College.

Howlett has experience as a pastor at the True Light Baptist Church and the Southern Tabernacle Baptist Church. He has been a seminar instructor and a psychological management instructor.

A former professional boxer, he served as a partner for such notables as Archie Moore, Ezzard Charles and Sonny Liston, all of whom became heavyweight champions of the world. His last professional fight was with Liston at the St. Louis Arena in September 1954.

During his boxing career, he won seven heavyweight championship titles. His education includes attendance at Upper Iowa University, American Baptist Theological Seminary and Universal Bible Institute. Howlett is presently pursuing his master's degree in behavioral science at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Arrested were Anthony J. Malone Jr., 19, Wood River, who was charged with theft and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and a 16-year-old Wood River boy, who was charged with theft and curfew violation. Malone posted $202 cash bond and was released. The juvenile was released to his parents on a notice to appear before juvenile authorities.

It will be held March 26, 27 and 28 in the University Center at SIUE. Lecture subjects will include ethnic problems in Southwestern Illinois history, architectural preservation, and coaling radicalism in Southern Illinois.

SIUE Associate Professor John L. Oldani will talk about quilt-making. Other speakers will include: Carl Baldwin, journalist and author; Victor Hicken, distinguished professor of history at Western Illinois University; Irving Dillard, former chief editorial writer for the Post-Dispatch; and Donald Lewis, past president of the Illinois State Historical Society. Questions about pre-registration or other details may be directed to the department, 692-2414.

2 purse snatchings Sunday

Two women had their purses grabbed from their arms in incidents 20 minutes apart Sunday evening.

Lorraine Groves of the 2100 block of Bryan Avenue was walking west on 20th Street at the railroad tracks at 6:40 p.m. Sunday when she walked up behind her and stated, "All I want is your purse." Mrs. Groves said she swung the purse, at him, striking his left shoulder. He grabbed the purse and fled east on 20th Street.

The purse contained no money, but did contain credit cards and personal papers.

Grace Barnhart of the 2111 block of Alexander Avenue, reported she was walking at 19th and State streets at 7 p.m. Sunday when a youth came at her from behind, grabbed her purse and ran south on State Street. Her purse contained about $20 in cash and some personal papers.

Officers are investigating similarities and differences in the two descriptions to determine whether one or more teens is involved.

Mrs. Groves described the thief at 5 feet, 9 inches tall, of medium build and having shoulder-length light brown hair. Mrs. Barnhart said the thief was about 6 feet tall, but could give no age or other physical description.

Mrs. Groves said the teen who stole her purse wore a blue and white stocking cap and a brown leather or imitation-leather coat. Mrs. Barnhart recalled the thief as wearing a blue and red stocking cap, black coat and blue jeans.

Wood River teens arrested

Two Wood River youths were arrested at 1:35 a.m. Saturday after allegedly stealing about 12 feet of copper wire from the home of Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic, Rural Route Two, Box 110, Highway 162.

Mehelic reported a pickup truck stopped at his home and two youths removed a strand of copper wire from Mehelic's yard, then turned north on Highway 111. A truck matching the description given by Mehelic was found in the parking lot of Smokey Joe's Tavern and the copper wire allegedly was found in the bed of the truck.

Arrested were Anthony J. Malone Jr., 19, Wood River, who was charged with theft and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and a 16-year-old Wood River boy, who was charged with theft and curfew violation. Malone posted $202 cash bond and was released. The juvenile was released to his parents on a notice to appear before juvenile authorities.

Self protection topic of secretaries meeting

The meeting room resounded with thuds as judo experts John Snyder and Kevin Olson demonstrated to the members of Granite City High School-South Future Secretaries Association how to take an attacker by surprise and turn the tables on him. Much interest was expressed on the part of the members, as they moved in closer to the demonstration to get a view of all the various holds.

The demonstration followed a talk by the Director of Call for Help, Sister Jo Ann Pisel, who began her presentation with the legal definition of rape, stressing that it must be by force, against a person's will, that they have to prove they tried to fight the attacker off, and that is one of the touchy situations that must be faced in prosecuting a rapist. She stressed that a rapist is out for more than sex; his main interest is in violence and aggression, and the person who is the victim could range in age from seven to 87. Age has nothing to do with it.

The meeting was called to order by President Nancy Ashby and Vice-President Christi DeVine introduced the speakers. The names of those who still owe money were announced by Jeanette Holder, faculty advisor, and she encouraged all members to bring payments up to date. Christie Vunovic, NSA representative and President of the Tri-Cities Chapter, spoke to the members about the day in the office program which will take place on Tuesday, April 15, and the FSA seminar set for Saturday, April 19. The seminar will be held at the Ramada Inn in Fairview Heights from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and will cost $7. Students have until April 11 to register. The day will include talks on subjects such as goal setting, rational thinking, behavior, leadership, assertiveness, measuring up, and concluding with dress for the professional secretary.

President Ashby asked that all members sign up for the FSA olympics to be held on Tuesday, March 18, at 6:30 p.m. This year the olympics will be held at GCHS-North, she added.

Career education books available to Girl Scouts

Girl Scouts believe you can't start too soon to help girls look to the future. With publication of a new activities book, "Careers to Explore" for Brownies and Juniors, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. is making career awareness education a vital experience in the lives of its younger members, according to River Bluffs Council.

Last year, Girl Scouts launched a similar career education program for girls 12 through 17, called "From Dreams to Reality." It has brought new impetus to teenage Girl Scouts across the nation to broaden their career horizons and learn to make informed choices about the direction their lives can take. Together with Careers to Explore it forms a total package of career education materials for girls from childhood through adolescence, council officers noted.

Girls six through 11 are not yet ready to make major life decisions—yet studies show that, by the age of 12, most girls already are limiting their career aspirations to a few traditional occupations. Girls need to be exposed at a very early age to a wide variety of options before they have limited their creative and career dreams.

The new book is filled with activities that are easy and fun to try. They open doors for girls to explore the varied and exciting career possibilities open to them as they grow older. Interviews conducted with contemporary women involved in interesting careers serve as a role models and provide first-hand information on what it is like to be a female state trooper, an energy scientist, a train conductor, a gymnasium instructor or a children's dentist.

The council added through the new resource book, girls learn what it takes to be an apprentice, how to make a tactile map to teach blind people to find their way, how to read a "Help Wanted" ad. An "idea factory" stimulates the young inventor. And a project to make cogwheels from bottle caps teaches principles of engineering.

Girls can see that a career choice is not necessarily a once-in-a-lifetime decision, but can be a series of careful planning for wise use of time and energy to manage a home and career successfully.

Careers to Explore for younger girls is part of Girl Scout's planned updating of materials for all girls.

The combined handbook for Brownies and Juniors, Worlds to Explore, introduced in 1977, was the first major program change in Girl Scouting since 1963. Careers to Explore is designed to supplement, and be used in connection with the handbook.

"From Dreams to Reality," introduced in 1978, and "Let's Make It Happen," and activities book for teenage Girl Scouts, 1979, also are components of what's new in Girl Scouting. A new basic handbook and other materials for teenage Girl Scouts are expected in 1980. River Bluffs Council will begin introducing these materials this spring, according to the announcement.

Gonzales Scholarship dance set March 29

An election for board of directors of the Women's Auxiliary of the Mexican Honorary Commission was held, this week, at an afternoon meeting conducted at the commission's hall, 1801 Spruce St.

Those to serve for two-year terms are Mary Martinez and Toni Short. Mary Lewis and Alma Sedares were elected for one-year terms.

Approximately 21 members and two guests, Kathy Monahan and Steve Leal, attended the session. Miss Sarita Garcia, membership chairman, reported four new members joined the organization since the previous meeting.

Discussion was held concerning the upcoming Joseph Gonzales Scholarship Fund Dance and the May Fiesta. Miss Lisa Garcia, president, noted members will be called upon to help in the kitchen during the dance and the fiesta. The Scholarship Dance is to be held March 29, it was announced. Miss Lilly Valencia volunteered to set-up the kitchen for the May Fiesta, adding that volunteers will be needed to help serve.

Miss Garcia announced on Sunday, March 9, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. a "Job Fair" will be held at the Mexican Honorary Commission Hall. Thirty Federal Agencies and private sectors will be represented at the club on this date. Applications will be taken and everyone is welcome to attend, she added.

Miss Debbie Thiek reviewed plans for a trip to the "Showboat" for dinner and a show following the April meeting. Reservations forms were distributed and must be returned to her by April 11. "Secret Pal" cards were also distributed to members and names were then drawn for the coming year.

It was decided that "secret pals" would be revealed at the December meeting. After the meeting was adjourned, Officer Fred Hoffman of the Granite City Police Department presented a film entitled "How to Say No to a Rapist and Survive," and a discussion followed.

Refreshments provided by Miss Thiek were served to the members and guests following the film.

The 43 endorsed include Rep. Jim McPike of this district. In addition, a number of candidates received qualified support because of their position, in support of ratification of the amendment.

Although we may not be in full agreement with LLOYD McBRIDE on the many stands he has taken on issues that confront OUR UNION... However, we MUST AGREE with him on SENATE BILL S.2153. If S.2153 is passed, it would reduce OSHA to a meaningless figurehead organization. S.2153 NEEDS TO BE KILLED!

Giving OSHA "a hand" in this matter will enable them to help us save AN ARM, LEG or a LIFE in the future!

P.S. PLEASE take the time to write Sen. Percy or Sen. Stevenson. Let them know we are all ANGST S.2153. Spread the word to ALL WORKERS and to ANYONE YOU KNOW who is concerned about THEIR SAFETY on the job.

HERE FROM VIETNAM. Associate Professor Don Darnell of SIUE, right, meets his friend, Huynh Dinh and family at Lambert Airport. Darnell helped them escape from Vietnam and is sponsoring their move to the United States. From left are Nghi, 7; Dinh; Tam Dang, his wife; Thu, 3, yawning; and Nhiem, 6.

Professor, Vietnamese are reunited

By MARY BRASE
All Don Darnell could do now was wait. He traced a path in the red carpet from the closed door of American Airlines Gate 224 at Lambert-St. Louis International Airport to the window wall, filled with a picture of blowing snow, icy runways, and darkness beyond.

The education professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville brought along an extra blanket and coat in the car in case the children got cold, and he alerted his mother to expect five more for the weekend. Flight 100 was due to arrive at 5:30 p.m.

The first letter from Hong Kong came in July 1978. "Dear Mr. Donnell," it began. "I haven't received your letter since 10 years ago. So I can't know what happened on you and where you're living."

Addressed to "Donnell at Edwardsville, South Illinois, USA," it was the last hope of a Vietnamese man, Huynh Khac Dinh, to find an old American friend.

Huynh (the family name) had escaped in a small boat with his two young sons, and needed help rescuing his wife and daughter left behind.

The letter explained: "From 1976 to 1978, I had made up four times for crossing the sea to look on freedom. But I failed three times and just succeeded at the last on July 15, 1978."

Barbara Ratkewicz wins officer award

Thule, Greenland—First Lieutenant Barbara W. Ratkewicz, daughter of Myra D. Wisniewski of 3209 E. Reynolds Ave., North Las Vegas, Nev., has been named outstanding junior officer of the quarter at Thule Air Base.

The lieutenant, a space systems director, was selected for exemplary leadership, devotion to duty and professional performance.

A 1970 graduate of Air Academy High School, Colorado Springs, Colo., she received a bachelor's degree in 1974 from Loretto Heights College, Denver.

She was commissioned in 1976 through Officer Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Her husband, Arthur, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony V. Ratkewicz, 1608 Fifth St., Madison.

However, my wife and my little daughter can't go with me on this trip.

Four days later, a U.S. submarine picked up Huynh and his sons, Nghi, 7, and Nhiem, 6, about 250 miles from Hong Kong.

The message found Darnell at SIUE, where he is an associate professor of elementary and early childhood education. The answer was never in doubt.

"When I was over there (Vietnam), Dinh arranged a place for me to stay, found an excellent housekeeper and helped me with the other adjustments," Darnell said. He lived in Vietnam three years as part of a study program, working with the curriculum in the local schools.

As a creative writing and language arts teacher, Darnell had learned the Vietnamese language with help from Huynh and the housekeeper, and hoped he remembered it well enough to greet his friend in the language when he arrived.

Before Darnell returned to the U.S. in 1966, Huynh brought a gift the professor still keeps in his office: a black-and-white ink drawing of a stylized praying Buddha with a wish for peace lettered neatly under it.

After reading the letter, the first thing Darnell did was to send money. "I am definitely not a moneyed man," Darnell said, "but a friend needed help."

Cahokia Mounds most important archeological site in nation, deserving of restoration and display to public

A long-term three-phase master management plan for Cahokia Mounds Historic Site development was unveiled to civic and tourism leaders and local legislators Monday night. Extending far into the future, it could cost $14.5 million. In view of the unique nature of the site, it deserves serious study and gradual implementation.

The plan calls in the third phase for "negotiation with the Illinois Department of Transportation" to close Business Route 40, which now runs through the park, and shift it in some way to bypass the park. Then the portion in the park would be removed. The site acquisition plan includes the Falcon Drive-10, Kreider Trucking, MacIair Asphalt and Grandpa's Store. The drive-in theater and truck company building are in the 1981 acquisition schedule.

In the end, Cahokia Mounds State Park, which is now known as the Historic Site but not yet officially so named, would be restored to give visitors a realistic conception of the pre-historic Indian city of 40,000. A museum-interpretive center would be built on the south side of U.S. Business 40 near the end of Ramsey Street, the eastern-most of the three streets in Mounds Subdivision. The subdivision is in the future site acquisition plans.

Acquisition now under way with a $600,000 appropriation involves the Merrell Trust-Bunselmeyer tract of 382.67 acres north of Interstate 70 and including the Kummenn Mound, and 178.34-acre Baltimore and Ohio property south of the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, containing Rattlesnake Mound.

Bill Farrar, state superintendent of historic sites, said there is no doubt the Cahokia Mounds Historic Site is the most important archeological site in America north of Mexico. Answering State Senator Sam Vadala's question, he said that on a scale of 10, "Cahokia Mounds is a 10, and Lewis and Clark (near the confluence of the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers) is a 4." Money has been appropriated for a monument at Lewis and Clark Park but construction is awaiting dirt-moving to elevate it above flood stage.

Farrar said the plans for Cahokia Mounds Historic Site contemplate elimination of camping (already done because the Department of Public Health barred use of inadequate sewage facilities). Recreation and picnic activity would be diverted to Holten and Horseshoe Lake State Parks.

State Rep. Monroe Flinn said, "Cahokia (Mounds) is so important to me I am not going to stand still for letting Cahokia be held hostage to Holten, Horseshoe or any other state park. We should proceed with dispatch."

During the discussion, it was disclosed that the plan calls for a parking area for 100 cars at the interpretive center on the south side of the park. This site has been checked out for archeological significance, and verified as a place where the building and parking will not disturb anything significant.

Farrar mentioned that the Conservation Department, by mustering what he called its "Colonial army" of people from various sites, plans to have the stairway up the front of the Mound completed in time for "Rediscover Cahokia Days." The event will be expanded to two days this summer, July 26-27.

The development plan scraps the ambitious museum interpretive building projected several years ago in favor of the three-phase center project. Phase One would cost $1,250,000 for the center, including the displays. As soon as the new center is built, the present inadequate museum will be razed.

Part of the first phase calls for $30,000 to complete the stockade on already identified locations in the south side of the tract. The second phase would circle it back to the northwest side of the tract.

The first phase calls for $40,000 to complete the Woodhenge area in the west side of the site. The planners contemplate that the old borrow pit areas will be cleared of brush so that visitors can get an idea of the hand excavation that dug up the dirt to build the huge mounds.

There will also be restorations of Indian dwellings and garden plots. Site Superintendent Jim Anderson said there is some evidence that land near the museum site is the location of pre-historic garden plots and it would be appropriate to restore them there. Roads within the site will largely be eliminated.

The high cost of removing U.S. Business 40 was mentioned. Flinn sees this as a long way "down the road," and a natural development, by then, that won't cause many problems.

Sen. Vadala reminded the enthusiasts that it had been 25 years since the Mounds expansion plans were begun, and it may be a long time before the ambitious program is completed. He said he got a $2 million appropriation for Horseshoe Lake State Park in 1967 but the park is not extensively developed yet, although land has been purchased.

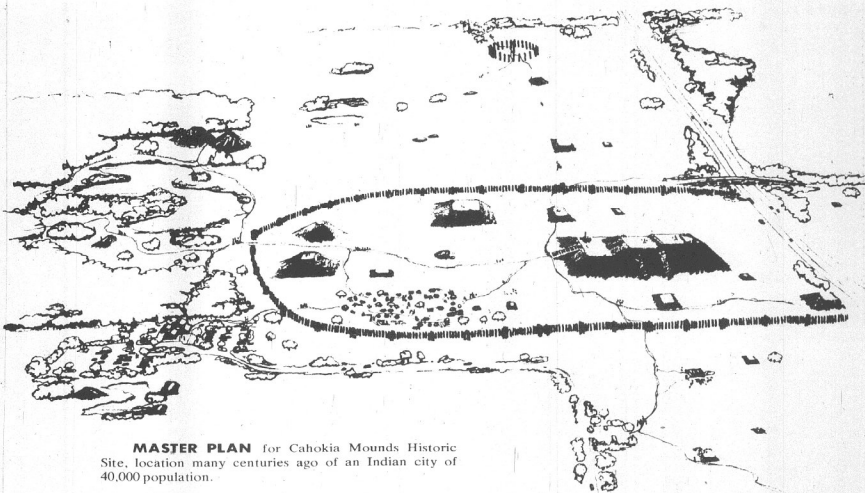

The historic site development plan to eliminate U.S. Business 40 through the middle of it is appropriate, to the planners. It will eliminate a dangerous walk across the highway from the parking area to the major feature, Monks' Mound.

Susan Wyck presented the details of the master management plan. Others who spoke were Ed Keating, site planner and landscape designer; Sid Denny, SIUE archeologist; and Cahokia Advisory Board Co-Chairmen Robert Koepke and Dan Malkovich.

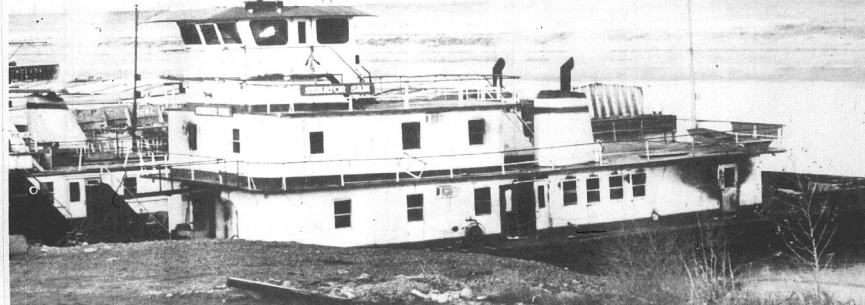

The Conservation Department has scheduled a public information meeting tentatively for April 17 in order to provide interested citizens an opportunity to comment or ask questions about the plan.

The time and location will be announced in the near future, Director David Kenney noted. The plan may be examined now at the public library in Granite City.

The proposals are ambitious, but fully justified. The mounds community restoration and display for this and future generations can do much to increase Americans' understanding of and appreciation for life in this region ten or more centuries ago.

$300,000 FIRE DAMAGE occurred Monday evening at the Tri-City Regional Port, affecting the Senator Sam, a large towboat used to move barges about as part of the local cargo fleet. Blackened areas of the hull and broken windows attest to the blaze, which was confined to the galley and crew's quarters. It will be restored and returned to service this spring.

Kennedy Jr. here today

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

The Kennedy campaign is alive and well, plus going strong, according to Edward "Ted" Kennedy Jr., son of presidential candidate Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

"My purpose in being here in the Granite City area this morning and most of the day is to be sure my father's supporters realize we are hanging right in the race," the 18-year-old Kennedy said in an interview today in the Press-Record news room.

"My father is speaking out on the issues and I believe the people are looking very strongly at the issues."

"My father has been called a lot of things and I want to set the record straight. He is a very patriotic American."

"We have a lot of support among labor and that is who I was meeting with this morning at Charlie's."

"The nomination is going to be decided in the west and midwest and Illinois is a key state."

"Much of the news media has the wrong conception about our campaign. They have us all but out of the race."

"The fact is the the president has 21 delegates so far and my father has 19. We did well in New Hampshire; we got 40 percent of the vote. We had problems there from the gun lobby people and a preoccupation with my father's personal life, rather than the issues."

"Our family support has traditionally come from the working person and the underprivileged."

"Illinois, with the state's large urban population, is very important and I feel we will do well. We have the support here. What we need to do is get it across to our supporters that we are in this race all the way," Kennedy emphasized.

Taking time out from school, Ted said that there are 10 to 12 members of the family working very hard for his father's campaigns.

"You'll see and hear from a lot of Kennedys in Illinois before the primary," he said.

Asked if he was going into politics himself, Ted Jr. smiled broadly and answered, "I would not rule that out."

A Kennedy campaign office will open at 10 a.m. Tuesday at 2011 State St.

The Kennedy campaign staff is moving into Chicago to coordinate the Illinois campaign.

Crowded prisons, alienated youths called urgent issues

By SAM SMITH

The debate over the growing problems of the nation's prisons was brought to Southwestern Illinois this week with conferences Tuesday at the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and yesterday at the university's main campus.

Earl Lazerson, acting president of the university, welcomed the conferences with "the hope that our entire society will benefit from the results of these proceedings."

"We would like to think we have progressed from the ancient prescription for justice of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. If these conferences can find ways to promote a more human vision, then those barbarisms that we have grown accustomed to will not bite with such cruelty."

The SIUE president added, "We do not need tragic moments like New Mexico or Attica to provide evidence that as far as dealing with crime is concerned, our pride (in our system) may not be so well founded."

"If we take the trouble to attend to the grinding degradation of so many of those in our prisons, horrible as their violations might have been, we must stand the fate that we have confined them to also lessens us as human beings."

The forums at SIUE are two of a series of conferences being held around the state by the John Howard Association, a nationally known prison reform organization, with funding by the Illinois Humanities Council.

Conferees include Warden James Greer of the Menard Correctional Center, Dan Cuneo, director of research at the Chester Mental Health Center; Fred Kimbrough, director of the Urban League's Comprehensive Employment Manpower Program; East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer; Charlie Watts of the Magdala Foundation of St. Louis; and members of the SIUE faculty and staff.

John McCarthy, director of the prison reform project, said corrections officials are debating whether they should just "warehouse" inmates or try to give them some kind of rehabilitative programming. "These conferences are a way to bring that debate to the public," he said.

McCarthy said the growing problem of prison overcrowding will probably stimulate increased use of community-based alternatives to incarceration, and bring more convicted offenders directly into contact with neighborhood residents.

"The people can't ignore prison issues anymore, and corrections officials can't ignore the concerns of the communities. I hope these conferences bring those groups together," McCarthy said.

Lazerson said, "As human beings, we continue to face the same old, perennial problems of living together in such a way that the order that promotes prosperity and the good life is consonant with the freedoms and privacy that are essential to human integrity."

"The manner in which we resolve and address the dilemmas that arise from living in society is the best measure of the success of the system to which we point with such pride."

He quoted author Charles Silberman, who suggests in his book, "Criminal Violence and Criminal Justice," that the long-run solution to crime is "the elimination of poverty, inequality and discrimination as significant factors in American life."

Silberman states further, "The high level of criminal violence among members of the lower class stems from poorer youths' sense of exclusion, and the desperation of their search to be somebody — to believe that they are persons of substance and worth."

"If criminal violence is to be reduced to a tolerable level, those who now feel excluded must become full, participating members of American society with a major stake in its preservation."

Lazerson emphasized, "Seen in these terms, the problems of criminal violence and criminal justice take both philosophical and pragmatic dimensions."

"I would be wrong to minimize the significance of anyone's contributions to these discussions."

"In a democratic society, we all bear a responsibility whether we accept it with maturity or not, for the laws and institutions we create

"In the spirit of a true university, we cannot fear the unvarnished truth. As a public institution, we enjoy a public trust to bring it to light."

"On the implications of all that we see and hear in the course of these conferences, reasonable men and women will have ample room to disagree. On the abiding urgency of the problem, however, I think we stand together."

WORD PROCESSING on modern computer terminals is explained to members of the GCHS North Media Club by Gary Schneider (seated), assistant to the editor, during a public tour. Rather than using typewriters, reporters and typesetters type on computer terminals which display the words on a video screen. Each story then is transferred onto a magnetic disc which is fed into a computer to produce the type image. Standing, from the left, are Carol Hutson, club sponsor Antonio Betancourt (left background), Karen Guth, Rich Lawrence, Cindy Dortch and Ron Allen.

PUBLIC TOURS of the Press-Record newspaper and printing facilities are offered to groups, scout units and clubs, such as the Granite City High School North Media Club, which is shown studying how page plates are made for the offset press. Press-Record Advertising Manager Vince Saputo, second from right, explains how the page negative is put onto a light sensitive plate so that the image is transferred onto the plate. From the left are Rich Lawrence, Carol Hutson, Karen Guth, Ron Allen, Cindy Dortch, Saputo and Donna Jones. Tours may be arranged by calling Saputo at the Press-Record, 876-2000.

Artist to speak, judge art exhibit

Sam Gilliam, a nationally-known artist and member of the art faculty at the University of Maryland, will give a presentation of his work at SIUE Monday, March 3. His lecture is scheduled in the Science and Technology Building auditorium at 4 p.m. The presentation is free and the public is invited to attend.

The artist's visit to the campus is in conjunction with the annual Master of Fine Arts Graduate Student Exhibition. Gilliam is serving as the juror of this exhibition and will also serve as a visiting artist in the department of art and design.

A reception opening the exhibition will be held in the University Center, the Communications Building, Lobby, and the central well of Lovejoy Library.

The Washington, D.C., artist's method of applying paint is unique. He first scrubs the canvas and then pours on the paints and lets the color soak in. While the canvas is still wet, he folds or rolls it and lets it dry. If he is not satisfied with the results, he begins the process again. In shaping and molding his canvases to create sculptural space, Gilliam sometimes lets things happen, and at other times he remains completely in control — cutting an area here or reinforcing an area there with stitching to hold the position of the fold. Don Davis, chairman of the department of art and design at SIUE, said, "Each canvas takes on a different meaning, depending on the light and space of the gallery where it is exhibited. Davis said."

Bricks thrown through windows

Large bricks were thrown through a house window and the windshield of a car within about one-half block of each other early this week.

Dan Woods, 2431 rear Adams St., was awakened by a loud noise and, when he checked, he found a large white brick weighing 10 to 12 pounds had been thrown through the kitchen window.

A boy about 15 years old, wearing long light-brown hair and wore a white jacket, ran from the area.

Moments later, Maxine Parson, 2404 Center St., reported a matching brick had been thrown at her car, denting the hood and breaking the windshield. The windshield wiper arm also was bent.

Club members to attend meeting

Chapter KU of the PEO Sisterhood met in the home of Mrs. Mary Thrane on Monday. President Mrs. Lillian Davis presided. It was noted that Mrs. Frank Kraus, Mrs. Dale Rea and the president will attend the Metro-East Round Table meeting in Fairview Heights on March 3.

Plans will be made there for the annual Founder's Day program, which will be held April 19 at Signal Hill United Methodist Church in Belleville.

Others in attendance were Mesdames Cal Bartels, William Burke, Wayne Carlisle, George Coolidge, Robert Karandjoff, Dave Maxton, Wayne Robinson, Muri Spengler, August Whittier and Ruth McCarthy. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Kraus on March 11. Election of officers and delegates for the state convention will take place.

Nemeth's name son Craig Anthony

Craig Anthony is the name selected by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Nemeth, Atlanta, Ga., former residents, for their first child born on Feb. 25.

The new arrival was born at Joan Lancy Hospital, Dallas, Ga., and weighed six pounds, 11 ounces.

Mrs. Nemeth is the former Rhonda Roberts, a daughter of Mrs. Mildred Roberts of Granite City, and the late Ivor Roberts.

Paternal grandparents are Mrs. Margaret Nemeth, Granite City, and the late Joseph Nemeth.

DRIVER ARRESTED

Thomas R. Huff, 25, of Rural Route Two, Box 1127, Granite City, was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, speeding and having an improper muffler in his car after officers alleged seeing his auto on State Street at 20th Street traveling at a high rate of speed. Madison takes first step toward the top

By PETE HAYES

DUPO — Madison High School's basketball trojans took their first step to what they hope is a second Illinois State small school championship here Wednesday night. The second step might be a little tougher.

Madison, behind some hot outside shooting and a tenacious defense, dominated scrappy Columbia 98-57 here in the first round of the DuPo Class A Regional and will face East St. Louis Assumption tonight (Thursday) in a semifinal contest at 7:30. The winner will play Venice Friday at 7:30 and the right to advance to next week's Vandalia Sectional.

Madison, ranked number one in the last Press-Record Area Coaches' Poll and third in the most recent Associated Press statewide poll, played with a business-like look in their eyes.

After the game, a nervous Madison coach Larry Graham spoke with reporters. "I thought we played hard tonight," he said. "I'm pleased with the way we approached this game."

Madison did indeed play hard. The Trojans ran off to a 29-14 lead at the end of the first quarter and never looked back.

It made no difference to the Trojans how they scored. They did it from outside, with Charles Claggett and Greg Lucas bombing away. They did it from the lane, with Morris Hughes, and they did it underneath with Hughes and Kerwin Stanley.

"I thought we got a real good effort from Lucas tonight," said Graham. "He did a fine job coming off the bench."

"I've always said the team with the strongest bench is the team that wins. We got a good game from our bench."

Then Graham glanced around and said to the reporters, "Is that enough?"

Not quite, just a couple more questions.

Did the controversy surrounding the Lovejoy suspension from the regional have an effect on Madison?

"I can't tell," said Graham. "It must have, but we try to avoid talking about it."

"We don't worry about them anyway. They're in the other bracket."

As Graham spoke, the sound of basketballs bouncing and shoes squeaking against the floor could be heard beyond.

Assumption warming up.

How does Graham feel about the game Thursday?

"Scared to death," he said. "Scared to death."

"I hear they're playing really well right now."

Assumption coach Lou Gregory last week threw his two biggest players, 6'8" Mansel Carter and 6'6" Gerald Stevenson off the team for disciplinary action.

"They're still bigger than we are," said Graham. He vanished into the locker room.

The game against Columbia was an effort in frustration for the Eagles for most of the game — and frustration for Madison the final 35 seconds.

With 38 seconds left in the game, substitute center Mark Zarr canned a 10-foot shot to make the score 98-57. The Madison fans went wild. They shouted "Break that clock! Break that clock!" They wanted that 100th point.

But Columbia would have none of it. The Eagles stalled out the final 35 seconds without taking a shot.

That frustration was mild compared to that felt by Columbia. The hawking Trojans' defense wouldn't let the Eagles get untracked.

Columbia managed to stay within reasonable striking distance most of the first quarter — a 10 to 12 point distance. But try as they might, the Eagles could get no closer. The shots, when they weren't being blocked by Madison defenders or stripped from the ball-handler's hands before he could get it away, weren't going in.

Finally, with 3:21 left in the second quarter, Madison out it away for good when Zarr hit a short jumper that made it 41-21. It was the first nail in the Eagles' coffin. There would be more.

From that point, what contest there had been turned into a rout. Just about everybody on the Madison bench got in.

It was a laughter. But Graham wasn't laughing. He knew there are many steps left before reaching the top.

DUPO — It was an unusual sight. Seven or eight Venice cheerleaders and fans crowded around an organ in the upper echelons of the bleachers in the DuPo High School Gymnasium Tuesday night.

A young man played the organ and the girls sang, laughed, danced and celebrated. The stands were empty but for the musical gathering. It was 9 o'clock and the game was already over.

The Venice fans had something to celebrate. Their favorite basketball team had just made light work of the host DuPo Tigers 80-62 in the first round of the DuPo Class A (small school) Regionals.

And they were in the championship game. Because of the IHSA ruling suspending Lovejoy (Brooklyn) High School from playing in post-season competition for playing in too many invitational tournaments, Venice would advance to the championship game by virtue of its victory over DuPo (see related story).

"Most of the guys on the team aren't really bothered by all the controversy that's surrounded this thing," said Venice coach Ken Perkins. "When I walked into the locker room after the game and told them they were in the finals, they just said, 'huh? They just play whoever's out on the floor.'"

Who was on the floor Tuesday night were the cold-shooting DuPo Tigers. The Tigers top scorer, Louie Miller, a 6'1" guard, was ice-cold from the floor in the first half. In fact, he missed 18 shots in the first half. He scored 40 points last week in a victory over Belleville St. Henry.

"We've shot better," said DuPo coach Steve McFall. "We shoot 51 percent from the floor on the season and then come out with a night like this."

"But it's all part of basketball. We were cold, but I give Venice credit, too. They played a good ball game. They got us running and they're so much quicker than us."

The combination of the Venice quickness, DuPo cold shooting and some nifty steals by the Red Devils' defense added up to a big Venice lead at the end of the first quarter, 22-9.

"We got off to a bad start and never could recover," said McFall. "It was sort of a 'hump' game for us. We could start a comeback but never get over the hump."

The Tigers made a try at getting over that "hump" in the second and third periods. In the second, they outscored Venice 17-15 to close the gap to 37-26 at halftime. But it was in the third quarter that DuPo's biggest threat materialized.

Dupo closed to within five points of Venice early in the third period when it scored eight of the first 10 points of the quarter. Some missed Red Devil shots, Dupo rebounds and good inside play by the Tigers' 6'5"

Rick Kirby scored 26 points to lead the visiting University of Missouri-St. Louis Rivermen to a 87-80 win over the SIUE Cougars Wednesday night in the last game of the season for both clubs.

Kirby, a senior playing in his last game for the Rivermen, finished as the second best field goal shooter in UMSL history by making nine of 17 shots from the floor to end the season with a 57.1 field goal percentage.

The 6-foot playmaking guard was out of the lineup with a sprained ankle two weeks ago when SIUE beat UMSL 74-64 and his presence last night made the Rivermen look like a completely different club.

"Kirby definitely makes a difference in their offense," said SIUE coach Jim Dudley. "He organizes things for them and settles them down."

"Yeah, it's nice to have Rick back in our lineup because he gives us a certain stability and intensity," said UMSL coach Tom Bartow.

"We weren't intense enough the first time we played Edwardsville. That made the difference tonight."

"It's always nice to win the last game of the year," Bartow said. "Now, I'll be looking good for a couple months instead of a couple days."

The Rivermen finished the year with a 8-18 record, but are a team to watch out for in the future, according to Bartow.

Area wrestlers hope to bring titles south

GRANITE CITY — Belleville West, Granite City North, as well as Granite City South could well stand a chance at cracking into the elite group at the top of the heap here Friday and Saturday at the 43rd annual Illinois High School Association State Finals in the Assembly Hall on the campus of the University of Illinois in Champaign.

Competition gets underway Friday at 10 a.m. Semifinals will be Saturday at 11:40 a.m. with 5th, 3rd and first place matches at 6 p.m. The Grand March of Finals will be at 7 p.m. Saturday.

West, with four first place sectional wrestlers and one third place sectional finisher, could have the best chance of any southern Illinois school at bringing home the big trophy from the Class AA (large school) meet.

"I'd have to say that west has the best chance that any Southern Illinois school has had in many, many years," said Granite City South head coach Bill "Red" Schmitt.

"With four undefeated guys, they could have one or two champions. That'll put them right there at the top. With any other wrestler placing, they could win it."

North, with six wrestlers advancing, sends the most of any Southern Illinois school, and just one away from the top number of seven grapplers from Chicago Harlan and Palatine High. "North could be up there too," said Schmitt. "They have a couple of wrestlers who could finish in the top three. If they can get some more places, they could finish high."

North sends two individual champions to the State Finals—Gerald Miller at 112 pounds and Kevin Shemwell at 132.

North coach Walt Whitaker, whose team finished second to west in last weekend's South Sectional, feels his team has a chance. "We could finish in the top six," said Whitaker. "It depends on the luck of the draw, who we have to wrestle in the early rounds."

South also advances five wrestlers, including two individual champions, who defeated Dean Perkins at 167 pounds (last year's third-place finisher at that weight) and Scott Polson, who has one loss on his record this season and was a state qualifier last season. "Dean could have a shot at it," said Schmitt. "And Polson is the kind of wrestler whose style lends itself to the kind of rough competition you have up at the state meet."

"But Dean hasn't really been wrestling at his best all week or so and Scott is nursing that back," Polson suffered a back injury in football, but has been recurring problems with it throughout the season.

Other Granite City wrestlers advancing to the State Finals are Mike Robinson (98 pounds), Steve Smith (105), Robert Kirgan (126) and Tracy Patton (119) from North; and Greg Garland (112), Randy Lupardus (119) and Rich James (185) from South.

According to Whitaker, Shemwell, Miller and Kirgan stand the best chances at placing high for the Stealers. "But you can't rule out anybody," he said. "From the way things are paired up, somebody could go into the Finals with a so-so record and a third-place finish in the Sectionals and end up with the championship but if he gets in a weaker bracket."

In the first round, North's Robinson will wrestle Brian Johnson, a sophomore from Chicago Bogan in the first bout of the 98 pound class. North's Smith will wrestle Mark Rodriguez, a junior from Tinley Park in Bout Number Two in the 105 weight class.

Garland of South will face Rick Pobanz, a senior from Geneseo Darnall in Bout Three at the 112 division. Also in that division, North's Miller will face the winner of a bout between Ed Greise of Downer's Grove and Mark Pritikin of Buffalo Grove.

All sectional individual champions receive a first round bye.

At 119 pounds, Lupardus will wrestle Tony Prate of Tinley Park Andrew in Bout Five. Patton of North will face Dan Kaminski of New Lenox Lincoln-Way in Bout Eight.

Kirgan of North will wrestle Mark DeMar, a senior from Niles East in Bout Two at 126 pounds.

Shemwell will face the winner of the 132-pound bout between Jim Lavey of Crystal Lake and Kevin Henehan from Niles North Dame in Bout Eleven.

Perkins of South, one of the top contenders for the 145 crown, will face the winner of the bout between Cary Phelps of Joliet West and Ed Cox of Palatine in Bout Sixteen.

Polson will also wrestle in Bout Sixteen of his 167 division. He will face the winner of the Steve Self (Deerfield) and Dave LeKovits (Morton East) bout.

South's James will face Robert Radloff of Chicago Harlan in Bout Three at 185 pounds.

SCOTT POLSON (left), in action against Granite City North's Tom Nance earlier this season, is one of two Granite City South Sectional champions to advance to this weekend's State Wrestling Finals. He wrestles at 167 pounds.

Bartow: 'Practice is fun'

By ROB REIG

for the Press-Record

University of Missouri-St. Louis basketball coach Tom Bartow would be perfectly happy if his team never played a game. "Practice is what's fun," Bartow says. "It would be great if we didn't have to play all those games. Teaching—watching people learn is what is most enjoyable," the former high school math teacher says. Teaching is what college coaches should be concentrating on.

Too many major colleges are placing more importance on a winning season than on the education of their players, Bartow says. At a time when sports pages are frequently highlighted by stories about college coaches and athletes ignoring academic rules and regulations in the pursuit of a winning season, Bartow sounds refreshingly out of synch with the times when he says "There's too much show business in college basketball today."

"You used to hear basketball coaches like Fog Allen (head coach for the University of Kansas from the 30s through the 50s) say 'Don't judge me now, wait about 10 years and then see if my kids are making a meaningful contribution. You don't hear very many coaches say things like that anymore," Bartow says.

Education more important than winning? Fog Allen? No, Bartow doesn't sound like your typical 30-year-old college coach. But the independence Missouri native says he honestly gets a bigger kick out of teaching basketball than watching games. And Bartow has seen a lot of games.

"I was born in August and I bet I started watching games in October," he says. "I've been going to basketball games as long as I can remember."

Bartow comes from a basketball family. His father, Gale, and brother, Dick, coached high school basketball. His uncle, Gene, is head coach at the University of Alabama-Birmingham, and was once head coach at UCLA.

Never much of a player, even in high school, Bartow always wanted to be a coach. He got his first experience coaching college ball when he was just 19 at Central Missouri State, his alma mater.

After compiling successful coaching records at two Missouri high schools, and Central Methodist college in Missouri, Bartow joined the UMsl staff three years ago. In his two years as assistant coach at UMsl, the Rivermen won 18 and lost 33.

When long-time UMsl basketball coach Chuck Smith decided to work only as an athletic director for the university, Bartow was named head coach.

Under Bartow's direction the Rivermen are 8-17 in the third period from an assist by Phelps to make it 1-0.

In the second period, South blew it wide open. Bridgick scored from Kevin Sherlock at 8:29 making it 2-0. It became 3-0 when Bridgick scored again, this time off an assist from Andy Hinterser.

With 30 seconds left in the period, the dominating Bob Tobin scored from Glenn Miller to cut the South lead to 3-1.

Billy McKinnon made it 4-1 for South at the 6:13 mark of the third period from an assist by Sherlock. Miller scored for Bloomington at the 4:17 mark from Ken Smith, making it 4-2.

McKinnon scored South's last goal of the season at the 3:43 mark on an unassisted play.

South finished the season with an overall record of 8-12-1 in league play. The annual Midstates' Hockey League all-Star game will be held March 23 at the Checkerdome in St. Louis as a preliminary game to the St. Louis Blues' game with the Washington Capitals. So far, one South Warrior has been chosen, senior Billy McKinnon.

DeRousse, Pierce and squad. A young team, coupled with a schedule that included Division I schools, Arkansas and Illinois and Division II powers Wright State, Eastern Illinois and University of Wisconsin-Green Bay made for a certain losing season.

Bartow says. "When you have a young team, you want to play against schools of dual strength," Bartow says. "You don't want to start out over your heads."

Despite this year's losing ledger, Bartow has found some bright spots in the season.

"We're starting to play to the best of our potential more often," Bartow says. "And that's the key. Playing the best you can all the time."

The Rivermen are also beginning to realize the importance of the practices Bartow loves to coach, he says.

Bartow looks for more consistency from his club next year, and an easier schedule.

"You can bet Arkansas and Illinois won't be on the schedule," he says with a laugh.

UMsl will become a member of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association next year and will join Central, Northwest, Northeast and Southeast Missouri State colleges in a 14-game league schedule.

"The competition will still be tough," he says. "Those clubs are all tough. If you don't play well against them, you'll get taken care of in a hurry. It should be interesting."

Throughout Bartow's coaching history his teams have improved their records as they win the second year he coaches them. But even if the Rivermen suffer another losing season next year, Bartow says he won't be getting any premature gray hairs. Bartow's happy at UMsl because he's found the right mix of academics and athletics at the university.

Pierce named to national team

GRANITE CITY — Granite City South goalie Tony Pierce was named Sunday to the U.S. National Youth Team by the Selection Committee of the National Youth Soccer Association in a meeting held in St. Louis.

Pierce, a senior All-American, joins South teammate Randy DeRousse of the National Team. DeRousse was named following last summer's National Sports Festival in Colorado. Pierce's naming followed tryouts that were conducted in Forst Park.

All players who were invited to the tryouts were members of state select teams.

DeRousse, Pierce and

South All-American teammate David Fernandez were selected to a 22-man Regional Team from which DeRousse and Pierce were tapped for the National Team.

A total of 60 players were divided into four teams for drills, practice and scrimmages at Forst Park.

The National Youth Team will depart March 22 for two weeks' training in Germany, then on to Paris for a game against the National Youth Team of France.

The tryouts were conducted by National Coach Walt Chyzowski and National Youth Coach Bob Gansler.

IHSA sets up television system for state playoffs

BLOOMINGTON — The Illinois High School Association (IHSA) has established a network of television stations and will produce its own telecasts to provide high school sports fans throughout Illinois an opportunity to see champions crowned in eight sports during 1980.

The concept begins with a two-hour delayed telecast of highlights from the upcoming Girls State Final Gymnastics Meet and Boys Final Swim Meet, and concludes with a delayed telecast of the championship matches in the 1980 Class A and Class AA Girls State Volleyball Tournament. Other sports to be included in the series of telecasts will be Boys Class A Basketball, Girls Class A Basketball, Girls Track & Field, Boys Track & Field, and Boys Football, in the following fashion.

Every game in the 1980 Class A and Class AA Boys State Basketball Tournaments, except for the third place game, will be telecast live. The championship game in both the Class A and Class AA Girls State Basketball Tournaments will be telecast live. Taped highlights of the competition in girls track will be incorporated into a live telecast of the finals in the 1980 Boy State Track Meet this spring. The Saturday games in the State Final Football Playoffs will be televised live.

Games other than those scheduled in the network package will be available to local stations wishing to bring viewers games involving local teams.

Stations on the IHSA network are: WICD in Champaign, WGN in Chicago, WSIL in Harrisburg, WRAU in Peoria, KHQA in Quincy, WIPR in Rockford, WHBF in Rock Island and WICS in Springfield.

Sponsoring a portion of the network programming will be the Country Companies Insurance, Bloomington, and DeKalb Seed Co. DeKalb. The Country Companies Insurance was involved with sponsorship of the Class A Boys State Basketball Tournament telecast the past nine years. DeKalb Seed Co. is sponsoring IHSA telecasts for the first time.

Cranfill Advertising Agency, Indianapolis, Ind., has been retained by the IHSA to coordinate the production of the telecasts, as well as network sales. The Cranfill Advertising Agency serves the Indiana High School Athletic Association (IHSA) in a similar fashion. The inaugural telecast of girls gymnastics and boys swimming will be on March 1-2, 1980, and will be seen as follows: Saturday, March 1, 1:00-3:00 p.m. on KHQA in Quincy; 1:30-3:30 p.m. on WIPR in Rockford and WHBF in Rock Island. Sunday, March 2, 1:00-3:00 p.m. on WRAU in Peoria; 4:00-6:00 p.m. on WICS in Springfield and WICD in Champaign; 6:30-7:30 p.m. on WGN-TV in Chicago.

Handling the announcing responsibilities for the girls gymnastics portion will be Jim Turpin of Springfield and Kathy Krebs of Park Forest. Handling the boys swimming will be Frank Bussone of Peoria and Bob Steele of Carbondale.

Turpin and Bussone also will call the play-by-play of the games in the two boys basketball tournaments and the girls title games. Joining them on the telecast of the girls games will be Buffalo Grove head girls basketball coach Ann Penstone, who worked the three previous telecasts as an analyst. The announcing team for each boys tournament will include a third person to serve as an analyst.

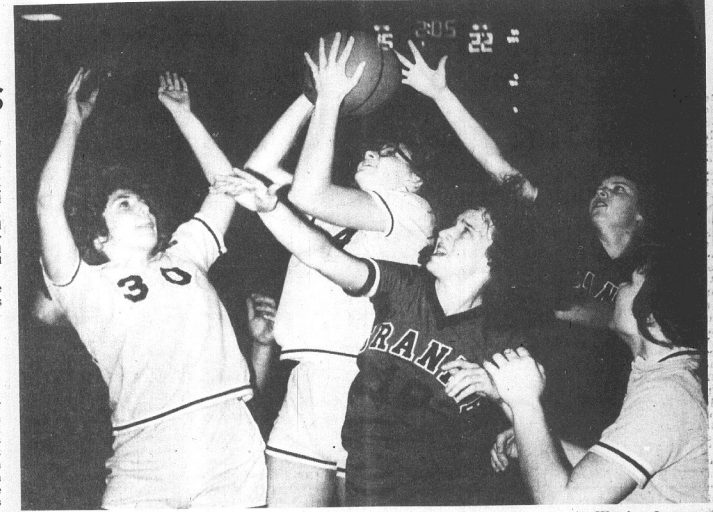

Turpin is not a stranger to the basketball telecasts, having worked the previous two Class A telecasts. Now serving as director of community relations for Sangamon State University, Springfield, Turpin is a past executive director of the Illinois Radio Broadcasters Association. Bussone, who is making his debut as a member of the announcing team, is an executive and sportscaster for WEEK-TV, Peoria. He has handled television play-by-play for intercollegiate basketball telecasts by WEEK-TV and WTVF-TV in Peoria.

Announcing teams for the spring and fall telecasts have not been finalized.

Telecasts of the two Boys State Basketball Tournaments will be at different times than in previous years. The telecasts on Friday will begin at Noon and 7 p.m., respectively, with the tipoff of the first of two games each of these quarterfinal sessions set for 15 minutes after the hour. The telecast of the semifinal session each Saturday morning will begin at 11:00 a.m. — a start of one hour earlier over previous years.

The telecasts of the girls title games will begin at 8:00, with the game tipoff set for 8:15 p.m. The telecasts of the girls title games will begin at 4 and 9 p.m., respectively, for the Class A and Class AA contest.

SCRAMBLE. Granite City North's Cindy Goeller (with ball) gets off a shot Monday night at home while surrounded by a host of South Warriors and Steelerette teammates. Number 30 for North is Kathy Waldo. In front for South is Nita Graham and at right is Warrior Laura Gabriel. Goeller led North with nine points in its 47-22 loss to South while Graham scored 14 for South.

South does in North again

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City South girls basketball team, holding Granite City North for the fourth quarter, held Granite City North for the second time this season here Monday night 47-22 at North. The victory raised South's win-loss record to 11-2 overall on the season and 6-0 in the Gateway East Conference, while North fell to 3-8 and 1-5 in the GEC.

South was led, as usual by the one-two punch of Chris Boyd and Nita Graham. Each popped in 14 points for the Lady Warriors. They were the only players on either team in double scoring figures. South led by six points, 12-6, at the end of the first period. But then the Steelerettes came to life. They fought on even terms with South in the second quarter, with each squad scoring 12 points to make it 24-18 at halftime.

Neither team actually scored the nets in the third period. South got seven points, while North four.

Then came the critical fourth period. With South's tenacious defense causing North turnovers (and eventual South baskets) and with the shots North got off not falling in, it spelled defeat for the Steelerettes.

North was led by Cindy Goeller's nine points.

North and South will meet for the final time this season in the first round of the Highland Class AA Girls Regional in March.

Thursday (tonight), both schools will travel to Belleville. North will be at West High and South will play at East.

DAR names Good Citizens

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the DAR, with Mrs. Emma Schoen, regent, presiding, held its annual George Washington tea in the parlor of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church on Sunday to honor "Good Citizens" of the four local high schools.

The senior students who were selected on qualities of leadership, dependability, service and patriotism were Philip Beljanski from Granite City South; Raquel Cuevas, Granite City North; Vergia Franklin, Madison High; and Sabrina White, Venice High.

John Wilson, Good Citizens chairman, gave a brief history of the "Good Citizens," which originated in 1934 through a resolution passed by the U.S. Congress. The present standards and name were adopted in 1952. Beljanski was present to receive his pin and national certificate from Mrs. Wilson. The others will receive theirs at a later date from their high school principals.

After the group recited the pledge of allegiance to the flag, Mrs. Lois Bilbrey and Mrs. Madge Hansen sang four different versions of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Narrating the history of the song was Mrs. Ruth McCarty, with Mrs. Barbara Williams as accompanist. The audience joined in singing the first verse of the present-day "Service version," adopted in 1942.

Philip D. Beljanski is the son of Mrs. Kathleen D. Beljanski, 2000 Manley Ave., and the late Joseph Beljanski. He is the reigning Homecoming king and is serving as president of the senior class, the Letterman's Club and the National Honor Society.

He is a three-year letterman on the state soccer championship team and a two-year letterman in wrestling. He attended Illinois Premier Boys' State last summer and has been a Student Council representative for three years. He received an NEDT certificate and was a contestant in the NCTE. At the present time, he is leaning toward a career in chemical engineering.

Raquel Cuevas, North High's Good Citizen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Florentino Cuevas, 519 Fleming Ave. She is president of the Science Club and secretary of the National Honor Society and the band.

She also belongs to the Varsity Club, Spanish Club, Modern Music Masters and Band Letterman's Club. Miss Cuevas is a three-year letterman in volleyball.

Vergia Franklin is the daughter of Mrs. Theresa Franklin, 1026 Market St. She attended Illini Girls' State last summer, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

She was president of her class in both the freshman and junior years and vice-president of the Honor Society this year. She also has been a member of the Student Council and the yearbook staff, and was on the prom committee.

Miss Sabrina White is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse White, 902 Third St., Venice. She is a member of the Student Council and is serving as parliamentarian; she also is a member of the Student Advisory Council. This year, she is a co-president at St. Elizabeth Medical center and serves as the receptionist for the staff of occupational and recreational therapists at the Kettler Center. Last summer, she was sponsored by the Madison-Venice Rotary Club at the Rotary Youth Leadership Seminar held at Monmouth (Ill.) College. She plans to major in business administration.

Among the special guests

Dave Fagan leading driver

By JOHN SCULLY

Dave Fagan has been training and driving harness horses with a good deal of success, but he has never done better than he is doing presently at Fairmount Park.

In 1978, he had 54 winners in 301 drives, with his horses earning over $58,000. In just two and a half months at Fairmount Park, he has driven 361 times and has stopped at the winner's circle on 41 occasions.

Dave not only leads in winners, but also has the best win percentage of 25 percent.

As impressive as his driving statistics are, his training credentials are even better: with 20 victories, 18 seconds and 11 thirds from starts for a win percentage of 29 percent and an in-the-money percentage of 71 percent.

Dave Fagan is no stranger to Fairmount Park. In 1973, he was the leading dash driver, finishing 19th in the Universal Drivers Ratings champ.

During the intervening years, Fagan, a New York resident has compiled some fine seasons with mostly cheap stock.

Others in attendance and not previously named were Misses Eva Renfro, Nelle Hart, Mae McCormick, Mildred McCormick and Ella Ray Smith, and Mesdames Margaret Belt, Lucille Butler, Eva Meier, Florence Simpson, Jane Ann Vaneasler and Georgia Engleke.

Fagan relates that Woods bought Queen To Be, supposedly in foal, as a broodmare for $7,500. She was bred as a three-year-old after breaking down.

When she was found to be barren, she was put back into training without any ill effects. Queen To Be was previously raced in Chicago and New York, winning one race in 18 tries.

Her return to racing started out inauspiciously enough, third among non starters in 1979, ending the year with 14 wins and earnings in excess of $47,000.

Although she is not presently racing in her best form, Queen To Be can be expected to regain her winning ways under the guidance of Dave Fagan.

Dave also had the opportunity of driving the very good filly, Dream Cup, who defeated some of the best on the local scene. Dream Cup was sold recently and is currently racing in New York.

Racing flows in the blood of the Fagans, as Dave's two brothers, Dick and Billy, are in harness racing. Dave at Fairmount Park, while Billy trains at Sportsman's Park in Chicago.

Dave has added incentive to win, as the 30-year-old horseman is a widower, with an eight-year-old daughter, Julie.

Julie stays with Dave's mother in Newton, which is one of the reasons that he likes to race at Fairmount Park, as it enables him to drive home on the weekends.

When Fairmount Park closes on March 30, Dave will go to Chicago. During the summer, he will also drive at many of the county fairs in Illinois, returning in the fall to Southern Illinois, where he likes it best.

Break ground March 9 for Lutheran high school

Groundbreaking ceremonies to begin construction of the new Metro-East Lutheran High School have been scheduled for Sunday, March 9, at 3 p.m. on the Center Grove Road site in Edwardsville.

Center Grove Road is midway between Rts. 157 and 159. Directional signs for the ceremony will be posted on Center Grove Road at the entrances of 157 and 159.

The Rev. Carl Aufderberg, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Edwardsville, will be the keynote speaker in the 45-minute ceremony. Members of the board of directors of the high school association and building committee members will participate in breaking ground.

Pastors of the eight congregations making up the high school association will also participate in the service. The congregations are: Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Collinsville; Good Shepherd, Collinsville; St. John, Mayville; Concordia, Granite City; St. Peter's, Caseyville; Trinity, Edwardsville; St. Paul, Wood River; and Unity, East St. Louis.

The high school band and choir, as well as the Holy Cross Lutheran School Choir, Collinsville, and Trinity Lutheran School Choir, Edwardsville, will perform.

The Rev. Alvin Knollman, president of the Southern Illinois District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, the Rev. Elvin Harris, executive director, Dr. Al Senke, secretary of Elementary and Secondary Schools of the LCMS, and other dignitaries have been invited to attend the ceremonies.

State and city officials, including State Senator Sam Vadala, State Rep. Everett Steele, State Rep. Sam Wolf, Madison County School Superintendent Harold Briggs, Mayor Steve Ellsworth of Edwardsville, will also be present. The projected future enrollment of 200 students. Ultimate expansion of the building at a later date will allow for 600 students.

APPROVES BILLS
The Granite City Council, seated last week at the township board of trustees, approved bills totaling $23,083 for township purposes. The bills included $12,000 for the town fund, $5,830 for general assistance and $4,836 in federal revenue sharing expenditures. The aldermen also voted to purchase a $21,000 tax anticipation warrant for the municipal retirement fund.

Arrest on warrant

Granite City police went to the St. Clair County Jail Monday and arrested Russell K. Pulley, 23, of St. Charles, Mo., on warrants alleging battery and deceptive practices.

The battery warrant alleges he beat Shirley Gaddo in 1979 and the deceptive practices warrant contends he cashed two worthless checks at Eddie's Lounge and did not pay for them.

Pulley's bond was set at $4,000 and he was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

ARREST AT HOSPITAL

Carl E. Thomas, 25, who told authorities he lives in a car, was arrested at St. Elizabeth Medical Center Thursday and was charged with disorderly conduct. An official of the medical center said she was in the chapel when a man entered and pounded on the organ until security personnel arrived and held him for police.

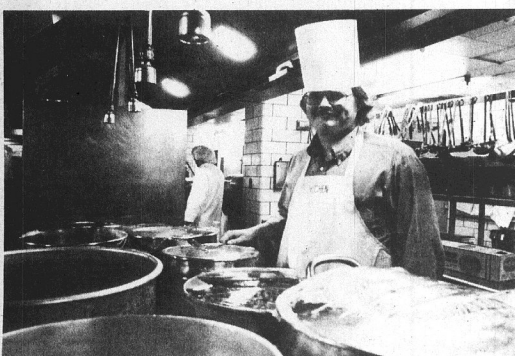

SHARE PROGRAM is initiated in Granite City at a meeting of the YMCA Senior Citizens. SHARE, an acronym for Send Help At Residence, Emergency, is a program developed by the public relations committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, making use of "Send Help" signs being distributed by the Chamber and various organizations in the local area. The signs are to be displayed in a front, ground floor window of a home in which an emergency arises requiring assistance by police, fire or medical personnel. From the left, are: Jerry Rosenberg, superintendent of postal operations at the Granite City post office; Shirley Adams, representing the Chamber ambassadors, presenting a "Send Help" sign to Mrs. Augusta Pender and Mrs. Bonnie Ostresh, members of the YMCA Senior Citizens Club; Vicki Elmore, an RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program) worker at the "Y," and Officer Friendly (Fred Hoffman) who helped with the SHARE program presentation. The Carrier Alert program, to be implemented by the local postal service in the near future, was briefly explained by Rosenberg during the meeting.

NEW CHEF at St. Elizabeth Medical Center is Steven Mitchell.

Food service improvements at hospital

"The quality, texture, variety, appearance and color of our product will improve through many of the changes taking place in our department," says Liz Bethel, director of food services at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. One of the changes is the addition of Chef Steven Mitchell to the Food Service Department.

He received his degree in culinary arts from the Culinary Institute of America in New York after working in the Navy for four years. He has also cooked at several St. Louis restaurants, including Holiuhian's Old Place, Gilbert-Robinson, and Sam Wilson's Meat Market.

Chef Mitchell has been working with food service supervisors and Liz Bethel to coordinate some of the improvements taking place in the production unit of their department.

But, Miss Bethel said, the improvements won't come overnight. "They are long-term changes and will not be noticeable immediately. The revision of the patient and cafeteria menus will be the most immediate improvements."

"Long-range plans include the coordination of menus and recipes; the training and supervision of cooks; and improvements in the methods of cooking."

"Our main concern is meeting the needs of the patients," she said. "All of the improvements are being done for the satisfaction of the patients, visitors and associates (employees)."

WOMAN ARRESTED

Ida F. Shafer, 33, of 1628 Clark Ave., was charged with harassment by telephone in a complaint signed by Albert Lewis of the 100 block of Briarwood Lane. He alleges that from Christmas to Feb. 9, he received numerous telephone calls where the caller hung up. A telephone trap was used to try and identify the caller. Mrs. Shafer was released on a $1,000 recognizance bond.

Sanitary District loan; seeks grant

The Metro-East Sanitary District Board met twice Tuesday to discuss a sewer break in Caseyville and agreed to make a third appeal to the U.S. Emergency Services and Disaster Agency in Springfield for funds to make repairs.

The requests for repair funds have been denied twice by the government, which contends the sewer break is not related to flooding and high water.

Since the sanitary district does not have the funds to make the repairs, and since the Illinois Attorney General's office has filed suit against the sanitary district and Caseyville to repair the break, the board voted to submit another appeal for funds to the ESDDA.

The fund squeeze also was discussed during the morning session in Washington Park and the afternoon session in Granite City Tuesday.

Commissioners were told that First National Bank in East St. Louis has agreed to purchase $600,000 in tax anticipation warrants from the sanitary district after at least one Granite City bank declined to purchase the warrants.

The $600,000 will enable the district to pay off all outstanding bills and re-establish credit. Currently, all purchases have to be made cash-on-delivery, so board approval to release the funds is required before each purchase.

The commissioners repeated their stand that they will not sign a contract on the proposed Blue Waters Ditch lift station maintenance until something is done about the uncompleted project to replace the Cahokia sanitary sewer trunk line.

Cahokia, Centerville, Alorton and St. Clair County are working on an agreement to share the cost, if the sanitary district will maintain and operate a lift station for the Blue Waters Ditch.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers will construct the lift station, at no direct cost to the local municipalities, if a local agency will assume the responsibility for operating and maintaining the lift station.

Since the sanitary district has no money, it agreed to maintain and operate the lift station only if the four governmental agencies which will benefit from the water removal will agree to pay the costs incurred.

However, the sanitary district also wants Cahokia to "make good" on its promise it will take over the rebuilding of the Cahokia trunk line, under a federal grant, before the sanitary district will sign a contract to participate in the Blue Waters Ditch lift station proposal.

The board agreed to seek bids for overhauling a bulldozer which needs repairs. Since estimates given by local shops for the work were higher than expected, the commissioners agreed to advertise for bids on the work.

Venice home rehabilitation progress

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Venice residents are being asked to apply for housing rehabilitation as soon as possible. Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols said at the Tuesday evening Venice City Council meeting.

"A representative from the Madison County Community Development Program was in town yesterday and inspected six houses that have been rehabilitated under this program," Mayor Echols said.

"There were a few minor items, under $1,000, that still needed to be done on them."

"We have six other houses scheduled to be repaired. All that needs to be done before work is started is the contract on the people, where they agree not to sell their homes right after the house is repaired."

"As it stands now, we have 10 to 15 applications that are being processed. We are wanting more applications now. I ask the aldermen to see if they have persons that would qualify under the guidelines. Persons should be contacting my office now," Mayor Echols emphasized.

Under the program, Venice residents may borrow up to $7,500 to improve the properties in which they live.

Persons may obtain complete details on qualifications and applications by contacting Vanetta Jackson in the mayor's office, 877-2412.

According to guidelines, income cannot be over $20 per month; proof of income, Social Security, unemployment, welfare or any other type of income must be available.

Persons must also show proof of ownership of the property.

The council approved a Madison County Housing Authority application to the U. S. Housing and Urban Development Department for a $2,000 loan.

The purpose of the loan from HUD is to begin preliminary paper work for 10 new housing units to be built, probably on MCHA land located west of Lee Wright Homes.

The new housing units will be for the elderly and handicapped.

A police report for January listed 54 arrests and $905 collected in fines.

Approval was given for the Silver Bells Senior Citizens to attend the Sunday, March 2, Harlem Globetrotters performance at the Checkerdome in St. Louis.

City Attorney Harry Hartman informed the council that a new ordinance covering derelict vehicles will be presented at the next council meeting for approval. He said copies for the aldermen to study are available for any suggestions or changes.

Hartman further told the council that Bell Telephone will give the city a $46 credit for calls charged to the city, an error, from St. Louis.

A resolution for the demolition or repair of a frame residence at 210 Hampden St. was passed. Discussion was held regarding property on Market Street and Mercedia Avenue, pending possible condemnation proceedings.

Owners of property are given 60 days to repair it, and if this is not done a court order to demolish a structure as unsafe is applied for by the city.

Mayor Echols paid tribute to Mrs. Sybil Robbs, who has retired from the Venice Public Library staff.

"On behalf of the council and all the citizens of Venice, I would like to express our deep appreciation to Mrs. Robb for the service she has rendered the city. I have told her that we are at her disposal should she ever need help in any way. She is a fine lady and a real asset to Venice," Mayor Echols concluded.

Central Christian special programs

In a continuing Sunday night program at Central Christian Church, a two week course will be given from 6:30 to 8 p.m., March 2 and March 9, in conjunction with the topic, "Learning to Listen," according to the Rev. Dennis Rutledge, host pastor.

Rev. Rutledge added, area trained resource personnel will share discussions with those attending.

An adult discussion on beliefs, backgrounds and structures of the Disciples of Christ Christian Church, is scheduled for March 16-23. The group sessions will be held at 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bilibrey Jr., 3129 Willow Ave., the pastor added.

New membership pin for Girl Scouts

One of the reasons why Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. is the world's largest voluntary organization for girls is because it stays contemporary with changing roles of girls and women in a changing world, authorities say.

This has been most recently evidenced by a change nationwide to a new Girl Scout pin for its membership, the River Bluff Girl Scout Council has announced.

The pin shows a new look while reaffirming the timeless values — with a striking new emblem. The familiar trefoil pin, which has identified Girl Scouts for almost 66 years, has been redesigned to show a pattern of girls' faces.

The words "Girl Scouts" appears boldly below the faces. The faces show youth, vitality, diversity and an orientation towards the future. The trefoil shape stands for the three parts of the Girl Scout promise which has influenced the lives of more than 40 million girls and adults who have belonged to this great movement since 1912.

The membership pin will be available this fall for girl and adult members with the exception of brownies who have their own pin, council officials added.

Wheelchairs adapted for palsy patients

United Cerebral Palsy of Illinois announced this week a new program for adapting wheelchairs to meet individual needs of persons with cerebral palsy and similar service needs.

Two centers have been opened at Fox Center, Dwight, and the SIUE School of Design, Carbondale, with a third scheduled to open in Chicago later this year. Transportation can be arranged for clients who have been accepted into this program.

Proper body-positioning is considered important to the well-being of developmentally disabled persons who have severe physical limitations. Standard wheelchairs often fail to provide adequate support to maintain functional sitting positions.

Additional adjustments and refinements may be needed by professionals experienced in designing, constructing and fitting adaptations.

The program is made possible by a grant from the Illinois Governor's Planning Council on Developmental Disabilities, and some financial assistance is available.

For further details, Quad-Cityans may contact United Cerebral Palsy of Southwestern, 5 Canty Lane, Suite 3, Fairview Heights 62206. The phone number is 398-6653.

Brownie Troop 57 holds investiture

Six new girls were invested into Brownie Troop 57 at the February meeting. After stating their reasons for wanting to become Brownies and repeating the Girl Scout promise the new girls were led down a path of good deed leaves to a Brownie pond to be pinned and join the troop. The troop sang "Brownie Smile Song" and repeated the promise ending the ceremony.

The new girls are Sarah Patton, Debra Jankowski, Gretchen Mink, Brandy Kalips, Angela Alexander and Layla Souers.

After the ceremony the troop and their guests enjoyed punch, donuts and Valentine cupcakes.

Other girls participating in the ceremony were Marjorie Hill, Barbilene Jankowski, Diane Partney, Christina Weise, Theresa Stevens, Amanda Mucho, Laura Nesbit, Terri Jateff and Candi Schultzenberger.

Mothers attending were Mrs. Patricia Mink, Mrs. Dixie Kalips, Mrs. Teresa Alexander, Mrs. Maureen Souers, Mrs. Linda Hill, Mrs. Janis Patton, Mrs. Rose Jankowski and Mrs. Ruth Ann Partney. Three other young guests were Jason Nesbit, John Yurek and Billy Weise.

Leader of the group is Joreen Yurek and the co-leader is Sandra Guenther. The troop is planning an ice skating party later this month, a parade during Girl Scout Week and will be portraying girls from Israel in an upcoming Thinking Day celebration, it was announced.
